

Costa Rica Romantic Honeymoon - Truly Above and Beyond

When I hear the word 'honeymoon' I remember back to those blissful post-wedding days with my husband. Our wedding was amazing, and I tried to savor every second of the whole wonderful event with dear family and friends. I will never forget the amazing mix of ages and generations all smiling, embracing, and dancing to our reggae band's version of Bob Marley's 'Stir It Up'. My Grandparents were priceless dancing together. However, it was especially glorious when the endless list of wedding details disappeared and the honeymoon phase eased in. The rollerblader who lost control and sent the gorgeous huge arrangements of flowers hurling, breaking one of the ceramic urns not too long before the ceremony, became like a distant, already funny memory. The rest of the world faded into the background and it was just me and my honey, and of course the moon if I had asked for it!

I can't think of a destination more spectacular for a honeymoon than Costa Rica. Costa Rica is so often included in top lists for romantic honeymoon destinations. However, because of the intimate size and nature of the country and its people, you will never feel like just cow in a herd of many. Weddings and honeymoons are big business, and after the garish bridal expo experience, I came away just wanting something personal, something 'us'. You will have that ability in Costa Rica, whatever that means to you. The variety of hotels, spas, and activities are amazing. These are all framed with natural beauty and scenery that will take your breath away.

Like other vacations you will want to decide which destinations and activities best represent what you are looking to experience. From the remote natural rain forest experience to the seaside resort, you will have options and amenities to indulge in all your honeymoon wishes. The honeymoon destinations we recommend have wonderful varieties of activities, spa treatments perfectly suited for making your trip as special as possible. One of the nicest, balanced combinations is the Rain Forest and Beach Rendezvous experience:

The Arenal area will meet and exceed any longings you might have had to go to Hawaii instead. Gracious Costa Rican hospitality will complement the views, gardens and spa treatments at Arenal Nayara.

The Sunset Tours lava hike is amazing: you will see glorious lava flow, sip cocktails at sunset, go for the thermal hot springs experience and then on to dinner.

The Sky Trek is exhilarating and one of the best tours in Costa Rica for canopy and suspension bridges.

The next destination, Tango Mar at the beach is great, just the spot to soak in the sun and sand in style.

The Tortuga Island tour is a must.

Then off to La Paz, so romantic!

For a very romantic secluded beach experience you will love Punta Islita and Harmony Hotel in Nicoya. The seaside romantic candlelight dinner for 2 at Punta Islita feels as though you are the only ones in the world taking in the sounds of the lapping waves and following the dazzling moonlight dancing on the water. The Harmony hotel is wonderful for couples spa treatments and yoga, swimming, and delicious healthy cuisine. The chocolate wrap is too delicious! The treatments are made by hand using local, healthy ingredients that are organic whenever possible. The linens used to drape clients are silky organic bamboo to die for. As I am sharing these details, I realize that this all is through my eyes and the best thing is to shape your Costa Rica honeymoon through YOUR eyes! Our travel designers are caring and will listen to all of your specific wishes and help you design the best honeymoon for just you. The custom possibilities are endless. Constantly boutique experiences are popping up here for various interests such as tennis, cooking or you name it. The ability to be here, in country, to ensure all details go smoothly is also key. Our job is not complete until you are on your way back home to begin your married life together! After all the mountains of details you manage to get married, even with an exceptional wedding coordinator, your honeymoon should feel seamless so the focus can be on each other. We can help you do this, as a matter-of-fact we live for it.....I am spilling the beans that all of our travel designers and customer service reps are hopeless romantics. I have been in sales for more than twenty years and am proud to say that I have never seen a staff more excited about or driven by customer reviews than this group. They are like proud parents sharing their success stories, it's ridiculous. I love what I do, wouldn't trade it
